

THE STUFF MOVIE THRILLERS ARE MADE OF— IN REAL LIFE

Lawrence Avery and Bride He Chose in Preference to Riches.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 9.—Here's the kind of stuff movie plays are made of and this happened in real life.

Lawrence Avery, son of a local capitalist, has chosen love without even a cottage, after being told by his father he will have to go out and "scratch for himself" unless he gives up his girl-bride with whom he eloped.

After his recent marriage to Miss Glow Shipman, cashier in his father's store, Avery was taken to Waukesha, Wis., by a friend of his father and told the police were after him for perjury committed when he swore he was 21 when he was only 18.

A week later, Avery says, his father had him examined for sanity and tried to have him placed in a sanatorium.

"They found nothing the matter
